12/21/00

Well, since this is my first entry in my goal/progress book I would like to start off with something I enjoy now: watching 'Who Wants To Be A Millionaire'. Interestingly enough, I have the computer game version as well as access to the Web version available at: www.cbc.com. Interestingly, enough though the cd version is much harder than the web version for some reason. Perhaps the difference lies in the production companies. Also, my hair was dyed today at approximately 2:35 pm Brown! It came out pretty well and I look forward to doing it again soon.

I look forward to playing REAL Myst on Friday as well as starting Tony Robbins and seeing the premiere of Cast Away.

I continue to progress with my ritual of reading everyday comics, loose papers, tracts and computing books. The winter break fired out very well and Christmas is a few days
away!

It would like to note
however, remarking Dr. John DeMartin of Discovery Resources seminar:
if you tick tock through your experiences you cause an inequity and must hold onto the shiny (metaphor)
to stay aloft.

Progress Note: I have actually W.T. tonight!
(12/22/00) It was great! The only criticism is that no Men's Health journals were consulted for assistance.

Bowling I am simply procrastinating on. I will begin after Christmas and equate more pleasure than pain and Vlad for help.

Progress Note: Unfortunately, I couldn't log onto Hotmail. Will try to look for the email containing the vital information very soon!

Real Myst I believe I will enjoy more when 'everything else is done'. It will never be done.
Therefore, from now until school
I will put in 30 minutes a day [tv show] into playing it and trying to finish the game.

12/21/00

Realized that I could ~~translate~~ create a wealth of savings for myself simply by gaining pleasure and experience from things on the Internet without having to spend a cent. This translates into savings. Savings over a period of time creates wealth.

Dr. DeMartini - Organizes his knowledge and important ideas through organized files. Whether notecards, paper or printouts they are sources of information he can immediately refer back to because 100% of that information will be lost if not used.

Once time/space are valued with high priorities, the idea is to translate 'valued' activities into wealth. There is no idea or value that comes into my mind that cannot be translated into wealth. The notecards are an example of this. By putting down important information on notecards from books he likely would not have remembered, he was able to refer back to them.

"Organization creates wealth."

Forced savings will promote financial mastery and stop impulse buying which sabotages financial self-worth.

Save $50 a month.

"Until you pay yourself first no one else will."

The world starts to pay you and value you.

12/21

Cause motivates you to create your wealth.

Compounding interest can equal daily pay from investments.
(A higher level of financial mastery).

Force-Accelerated Savings:

10% Savings increase per 3 months.

Double your savings in 2 years.
(No thought - done automatically).

Maximum growth occurs at comfort and discomfort.

If you have $10 saved you get $10 ideas.

$1,000 s. = $1,000 ideas
$1,000,000 = $1,000,000 ideas.

Wealth grows, compounds - interest and the ideas for more wealth grow geometrically and logarithmically.

Think of terms of life.

Long-term vision is soul-built.

Immediate gratification - sensory

Grow wealth till it works for you.

12/22/00

Pay yourself first! This is what creates wealth foremost!

When you value yourself = creates wealth.

Preciation is the concentration of value on something that someone loves.

Preciation of life is also at appreciation of wealth.

Tony Robbins

Decide now and expect more from yourself than anyone else could ever expect.

The biggest thing which stops people from reaching through their goals is fear.

- Fear of pain.
- Fear of failure.

Listen to fear and get yourself to take action.

Decision-making Muscle!

Hall of famers failed 7 out of 10 times.

Step 1: Get clear on what you want.

Step 2: Take action. Decide.

Step 3: Notice what you're getting from your actions.

If that doesn't work try something else until it works! Learn something!

Babies walk - until get it.

Flying an airplane is similar the idea is getting to a destination.

12/22/00

Role-model - find out what someone else who is successful; their plans and it will reap benefits.

Do their results!

Condition: the mind to get excited from frustration because it means you're gonna get a breakthrough.

Think of 2 actions you keep putting off!

- St. Mary's Journal
- Bowling Game Programming

12/23/00

Results:

First, I began the first activity of glancing through the journal and I was successful.

I couldn't however finish it all but I will definitely continue tomorrow!

Also, unfortunately I could not begin the Bowling Game Programming because I could not get into MSN[®] Hotmail[®] due to the server not functioning properly. Will see again soon.

I think this was a good first start of Tony Robbins audio cassette #7. I learned a lot and realized I associated more pain with the things listed rather than to simply take action.

12/23/00

I have so much to appreciate and realize that life is truly very precious!

Something I noticed which did however work was pumping iron late until 8:30 PM then taking for about 35 min. I felt acutely exhausted then but I refused to catch some zzz's while I could have effortlessly. Therefore, I would be interested to know if this could be my new sleep douser. I am not sure but I sure hope that it could be.

Since this is something that appears like it could work I should try it for sure!

12/23/00

I have discovered something else that could be of usage to my time management skills. First of all, because of the seemingly OVERWHELMINGLY amount of information both on the Web and T.V./books it is important to prioritize!

For example, when watching television I believe it is most beneficial to structure days according to both a routine and class of channel/show. For example, Thursdays can be devoted towards the political arena. Fridays can be devoted or focused on Finances. Therefore, in the afternoon CNBC, CNN or Bloomberg can be viewed to get the most pertinent information.

I would to try and reserve Saturdays for listening to the AM dial on The RADIO to try and stick to a nice routine.

12/23/00

I have decided to keep a sleep daily log to make sure that I am getting enough sleep from now on.

- No exercise three hours before bedtime.
- No caffeine after 1pm.
- No beverages or water 4 hours before bed!

Results:

Yeh 11 years later I'm still not using a sleep log.

The difference between then and now is that Serquel is now a sleep aid!

12/23/00

The two major driving forces that influence people's behavior are:

- #1: the desire to avoid pain.
- #2: the desire to gain pleasure.

Procrastination is the failure to do something.

Procrastination is when we think taking action is more painful than not taking action.

Pain and pleasure are the motivating forces of our life. These are the links which direct our behavior.

The need to avoid pain is greater than the desire to gain pleasure.

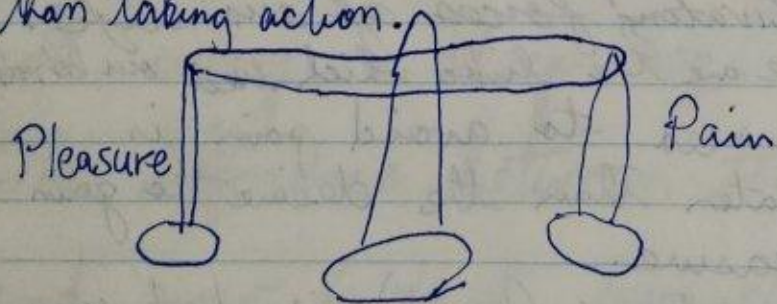

Your focus (direct) is what you creates your current reality.

12/23/00

For example, if you focused directly on a piece of chocolate and let your mind form the old associations of pleasure with the chocolate, then you would want to eat it.

Or you could really focus on all the pain and all the pleasure of not eating the chocolate.

Link not taking action more painful than taking action.

4 Actions Need to Take:

	Pain
1) Watch Kickboxer 3.	Perfection
2) Call DeMartini	Procrastination
3) DeMartini tape	None
4) Time Magazine	Procrastination
5) Go to Karate	Fear of performing badly.

Pleasure by not following through

- 1) Too caught up with other things.
- 2) Lazy, can put off.
- 3) Not enough time, other pleasures.
- 4) Don't feel like I need to follow through.
- 5) I can stay home and do nothing.

Pain:

- 1) more stuff to go through.
- 2) Can't apply the principles.
- 3) Same.
- 4) Catching up with me.
- 5) Fear of looking stupid.

Gains:

Pleasure

Esteem

cut-down procrastination.

Feels good.

cut pain.

Gain esteem, discipline and how to defend oneself.

I honestly must say that after the computer consultation with Alan I was a bit dissatisfied and felt overcharged for the service.

Two things were at fault on my part.

First, I was totally dependent on someone else when I could very well have solved the problem on my own.

Second, this should change me now to be EXTREMELY conservative yet deservng in how I decide to spend my money on things.

The mouse was the problem. It was simply not a virus even as I had reason to suspect in the first place. The mouse after being yanked continuously around the furniture; ended up with the delicate wires inside of it being damaged and thus leading to the mouse failing to respond, getting an error message and the computer slowing down horrendously.

I need to understand PC problems more proactively and take measures to prevent this from happening again.

12/24/00

Going through magazines with pleasure

The key, I believe to getting through the endless barrage of papers is to look at the situation as providing pleasure. That way, by applying Tony Robbins' teachings one may seek to attain the goal they sought.

Til next time, my journal!

P.S. Don't forget to contact Midway and EGM's customer support lines for finding out information about the making of Mortal Kombat.

12/24/00

A Cause —

My cause would be to study the different styles of martial arts and form a school based on Self-Defense.

In the future, I would like to make money to support the cause. I can do this by competing in competitions and earning money and have the cause be to prevent violent crimes and promote self-defense in the country.

12/24/00

De Martini:

Making associations with wealthy individuals or celebrities creates wealth in one's life.

Fastest way to lowered self worth is to give something for nothing or get something for nothing. Robs you of dignity, accountability, respect.

If you carry around money you have a different attitude than if your wallet is empty. And in addition, you attract more wealth to yourself as well.

12/25/00

Make sure to buy some Q-tips.

I have great ideas and news. First off, I can try and put together an environmental campaign letter to the MC community by compiling important information about the subject and taking a few pictures of the Long Island dump.

Second, I can prepare a summary of the two videos and possibly submit it to the Quadrangle.

Third, the essay about video game violence is important to give to the Grimaldi's. - Albinfo.com

12/25/00

Just remembered that I should forward these letters via regular mail to Tom to get his critique.

And also, don't forget that I need to write a letter to Mark Salzman about The Soloist and Iron & Silk.

I would like to track my weight training progress also as suggested in a fit tip email that is a little old at this point.

Other than that, I hope the shipping comes in for the cds I plan to sell.

My goal first of all is to increase my muscle arm mass on the biceps and triceps by 25%.

Yesterday I did 5 sets of 8 reps bench pressing and a behind the neck abert benchpress which garnered massive strength in my upper body.

Plan and continue focusing on new goals and tracking the progress.

Next goal is to get down to 173 lbs and have a lot of muscle mass.

12/25/00

Just as Tony Robbins said fear is what stops people.
And he is absolutely right!!
I know that I save it
to myself of to attend
kungfu lessons after watching the film: Iron & Silk.

If I don't, I may come to the end of my life and it will be too late.

12/26/00

I feel that the easiest thing to do is to review the journal everyday and to place the daily contents of what needs to be reviewed in a box for the following day so that it may be reviewed.

I really did like the movie 'Iron and Silk', though. Also, don't forget that on Friday indosko live radio feed will be broadcasted on the web.

Step 1: Go to Karate Dojo

Results (Date, time, description):

12/26/00

I just realized something important. Number one I should familiarize myself with the System Tools in Windows 98. Albeit, by reading the help files on them or by any other means necessary. Actually, a better means I believe would be to go to the library sometime during this week and read PC magazines. That would definitely be most helpful and beneficial to me! In addition, there is a file called book1.xls which has the phone numbers of DeMartini. I could call them up using dialpad and get some work done!

12/26/00

Neuro-Associations - strong association in nervous system.
Meaning you associate with a situation or scenario.

Link pleasure to starting a business and pain to not starting a business.

The association in your nervous system is stronger than the positive thinking you have in your mind.

Tony associated learning through seminars, tapes, books extremely pleasurable. As a result, he listened to tapes and read books constantly!

Get yourself to feel a certain way by making an association in your mind (handball - pleasure)

(surfing - pleasure) and link that to a new activity which you would like to increase the frequency of that particular activity.

Advertisers do this through advertising celebrities with their products and giving it a feeling of pleasure.

What are the consequences of the present associations in my life? Are they taking me farther away from or closer to my goals and/or destination in life?

You are always creating associations in your mind.

anchors - songs which bring pleasure

Anchoring is having strong emotions associated with a situation.

(Really conditioning).

12/27/00

some of the negative neuro-associations that are holding me back:

- Pain associated with kung-fu class.
- Fear associated with trying to act.
- Procrastination associated with trying to write short-stories.
- Pain associated going to the library and trying to read PC Magazines.

Empowering associations that I can use:

- Pleasure and progress that goes with kung-fu training.
- Pleasure and progress associated with making the decision to audition in Manhattan for acting.
- Pleasure associated with trying to write short-stories.

-Pleasure associated with going to the library and reading PC magazines. ↑

~~Disempowering~~

3 Neuro-Associations that Are + and Shaped My Destiny

- Playing video games
- Practicing handball
- Weight training and biking

12/27/00

Because of the fact that I am so very interested in audio-technology and progress I believe that it would be most beneficial to me to try and write and application - sound application that would remove the actor's voice from a song. At least if I can't succeed fully I would like to at least show some progress and have research to show for the experience.

12/27/00

Five things I can Do That Will Ensure Total Success:

- 1) Establish a list of 10 goals in mind a day and stick to achieving them daily! They may range from simplistic and easy to hard and time-consuming.
- 2) Be Willing to have consequences such as "If I don't complete these goals by tonight I have to pay $1.00 and give it to charity."
- 3) Establish a real schedule and lock in a particular activity to that specific time frame and do not do anything else.
- 4) Use substitution techniques: for instance if you feel the need to check email but there really isn't a need to then substitute that moment immediately with another higher priority activity or goal in mind and also learn to associate it with bringing pleasure.

- 5) Keep computer excel spreadsheets to track your progress and keep you motivated! For instance, have a list of daily goals, weekly goals and monthly goals in mind and keep target completion dates, success or failure check boxes, steps to change outcome and days since the goal hasn't been created!

12/27/00

It is possible to write reviews at epinions.com and make income off of book and video reviews of movies. So, look into it!

12/28/00

I am really excited about the upcoming New Year! As such though, I believe it would be fun to start watching the Twilight Zone Marathon starting on ~~Sunday~~ ^{Saturday} and ending on New Year's. On New Year's Eve though, I believe it would be fun to watch 'Iron & Silk' again.

I think I should start getting prepared for writing for the quadrangle by practicing writing.

Also, to prepare for using the camera in the next play ~~up~~ up at school, it would be good to start reading Photography Magazine.

I think that I should keep a tally of the different times I go to bed in the 2001 App't book schedules to ensure my waking up is earlier everyday. Also, I am excited about the following:

- Blood Drive Donation
- Last Away Movie
- Karate Try-Out
- Acting Audition
- Selling CDs
- Ross' New CD with myst and Callista songs
- Millenium Countdown
- Twilight Zone Marathon
- Bowling Game Completion
- Reading Books

Neuro-associative Conditioning Steps:

Therapists job is to use different therapies and change your beliefs by making you feel empowered.

Gestalt

Rational-Emotive - problems are caused by your own irrational beliefs.

Freudian Therapy - therapist redirects questions back to you to give you a different perspective.

Changing the association's between things linked up. Constant conditioning brings true results!

In another seminar, a woman

12/31/00

Sincerely make sure that the previous exercise is completed. There are some patterns of behavior which are bringing out more weakness of character and ~~they~~ have the potentiality to affect my next semester at school.

1/1/01

I just finished reading Career World February 1999 and gained some valuable info:

First, the Assertive Bill of Rights:

- The right to express thoughts, feelings and opinions
- The right to be listened to and taken seriously.
- The right to ask for what you want.
- The right to say "no"
- The right to make a decision on your own terms.
- The right to make mistakes
- The right not to feel guilty about your rights.

The importance of this list here is directly relatable to the service charge of Power Computer on December 23, 2000. First, I did not speak up and failed to use my assertive rights.

I SHOULD have made clear of what I expected in terms of service and had cleared up with Alan how much I would have been charged as well.

On the back of the CareerWalk magazine was shown a list of jobs and their descriptions. Here is what interested me.

Computer Systems Analysts - coordinates the construction, maintenance and growth of a company's computer system.

Education: Master's Degree

Salary: $39,250

Average $50,800 to $65,000

1/01

This is an excellent position and I plan to null the decision to pursue a career in finance at the present moment. Will probably go to Univ of Calif. - Irvine. In any case, I would like to grow out of this career (Comp. Sys. Analyst) into a consultant working part-time projects or contracts out of my home in Del Mar, California; with a house on the beach.

Should find that domain name: callcenterinfo.com and write for Aldiinfo.com! These could be uses of valuable experience.

01/01/01

If you knew you couldn't fail what would you do?

Keep your focus and constantly work at it.

Tony Robbins

We all want money because of what we think that feeling of having money will give us.

Learning to manage your emotional state of mind. If you don't manage it, imagine what it may cost you.

No matter what is happening

1/01/01
around you, you are controlling your state of mind by how you are directing your mind and body.

What's the price of not monitoring your states?

John Belushi is a prime example whom used drugs.

Two primary ways of controlling your state of mind:

- 1) Controlling your physical body.
- 2) Controlling your focus.

Step 1 Today:

your physical body, your posture, breathing are all different when you're depressed.

1/01/01

The way we move our facial muscles, the way we gesture, way we physically walk, the rate we talk, all of these determine how we feel at any given moment.

Change the way you walk, talk and gesture to change your mindset.

When people don't like the way they feel, they use cigarettes. they smoke feel differently, act differently. People believe that taking and using the cigarette is what makes them feel different, and better when in actuality, the only thing that is different is that they are breathing differently, more fully.

Cocaine use is heavy because of the change of state of mind.

One must monitor their emotional state of mind constantly, in order to achieve results.

0 10
feeling low feeling unstoppable

Right now, I feel like a 5 in terms of feeling powerful, somewhere in-between in taking the step to go for and talk with the Karate instructors.

I believe that I can raise this measure up to at least a 7-9 if I weight train exertively and challenge myself so that when I decide to leave I will be ready.

On a scale from 1 to 10, where do you need to be to be effective at a given task?

Look at the level and joy of intensity on a level of 0 to 10 where you ~~were~~ are in your life.

Specifics: Change the way you feel.

★ Change

1) Way you move.

- "Emotion is created by motion"

!! Speeding up the movements you make drastically change the emotional intensity you feel. Waving your arms from close to shoulder length.

Find 3 gestures or movements that whenever you feel weak and depressed, doing these gestures change your state of mind.

You ~~make~~ sure you snap yourself back into them immediately!

Step 2: Change Your Breathing
Discover which breathing is best for you.

Step 3: Facial Acrobatics

New facial habits influence negative or positive mindsets.

Bloodsucker

Study food and make sure you are putting good things in. Too much sugar is bad.

Whip yourself into a passionate way.

You can either wrap yourself up by different movements and calm yourself down by using different breathing techniques.

Exercise is to talk in a dispassionate way and in a passionate way and take note over your differences in body posture, state of mind, tone of voice.

Dispassionate Way:

- Head slumped over
- eyes droopy
- slacked face
- shoulders hunched
- back not straight
- feet back

Passionate Way:

- ++ Truly convinced, myself
- ++ Felt like a 9 on 0-10 scale.
- ++ Truly present.
- ++ Had very little fear.
- ++ Positive mindset
- ++ Optimism
- ++ Happy face
- ++ Hands and feet forward.
- ++ Straight back, standing tall.

07/03/01

Tony also mentioned how very important it is to make sure that you snap yourself back into your top prime mode whenever you are feeling depressed or have a let-go for it is not good.

I believe that I should also begin to start reading the Accounting text, planning out my next semester's daily day, contacting Vlad and contacting Rite-Aid about the photography job vacancy.

1/03/01

Day 6

Power of Focus

Control and direct the focus of your mind is power.

Whatever we experience in our body is a result of what we focus on with our mind or where we presently have our attention.

~~Success is~~

No matter how good it is you can always focus on something that is less than perfect or that which fails to meet your expectations. This is called Ultimate Failure in life.

Success is creating consistent pleasure in your life and causing yourself to grow.

You can this right now by deciding what to focus on!

If you feel certain emotions on an ongoing basis, it's because you have a habitual focus on certain things. And your focus on these things causes your brain to evaluate or question things occurring which results in an answer that has arisen from what you focus on.

Question #1

Why does this always happen to me?
This is a presupposition.

Better questions

What can I do today towards starting my success at becoming a trained martial artist and enjoy the process?

Better quality question gives better quality answer.

Delete the disempowering and
the empowering.

If you ask a question like "Look, can I do this?" That creates a feeling of doubt.

That feeling of doubt will keep me in a state where I'm not gonna get the most out of myself.

Instead, how can I make this happen right now and have more fun than ever doing it?

If I keep asking these questions
my brain creates access to higher value answers which makes available ~~my~~ more of my ability.

Otherwise, you get access to resources of doubt.

Tony's success is due to 1 simple thing: state management.

On a consistent basis, he's learned how to manage his state and therefore get ^{himself} ~~myself~~ to increase his flexibility.

conditioning of passion rather than states of doubt, fear, frustration.

If you focus on something everyday and desire to improve, you unleash unlimited power.

I wonder what I can do today that can make me have total pleasure for no reason?

I think I will focus on some important things differently while up at college this upcoming semester. First off, the important thing is to try and remain stress-free as much as possible. This can be done by not procrastinating while doing homework and studying, politely asking people to lower their music late in the evening, planning the next day, meditating and exercising for at 45 minutes every single day.

Video Game Violence and Its Effects on Teens/Children:

I'll never forget some of my earliest memories growing up video games as a young kid. Since 7 I was playing Super Mario Brothers, SMB2, Duck Hunt as well as hundreds of other early Nintendo titles. And I couldn't help but to feel the challenge and entertainment in figuring out how to annihilate Dr. Wily in Mega Man X or the gangs in Double Dragon who stole Billy's gf.

No, those days are long past but there's no doubt that recently the question of infringement, albeit copying copyrighted material or modification of the old Nintendo games is illegal. Yes, you heard correctly, I stated copying old Nintendo games ~~on~~ onto your hard drive and even making modifications if you desire.

It seems old memories and experiences never want to die. Sometime in 1997, programmers who had an interest in preserving such old memories of the old Nintendo games or ROMs (Read-Only Memory)-images of the original game stored as a computer file. Their desire to keep Nintendo games alive and well into the 21st century seems to have succeeded quite well. Actually, the argument is more likely founded.

Today I spent my day on the whole, hedonistically. First, I went to Advent in the afternoon to try and sell my invention. Then, I came home at around 4:25 PM and began surfing the web until mom called me.

The material that I was searching for was HACKING ROMS UTILITIES and demos. Specifically, PUNCH-OUT but I came across numerous websites that have hacked Super Mario Brothers, Dragon Warrior I and Final Fantasy Series. The purpose of this journal is not to simply partake on in this boring rendition of my day-to-day experiences but to trace patterns of behavior that are self-defeating.

The Hunger Site Article:

Hunger - if you've ever experienced it yourself you'll know that it is certainly not a pleasant experience. Moreover, if you've ever experienced it you probably noticed that your first thoughts seemed to hang onto the idea of the need to find food
and - fast.

But what happened if you didn't have the chance to sate this physiological need and response? Well, ~~for~~ however for whatever duration of time that you had to endure
without food in your stomach, culminating up to the point of your meal, must it may have proved to you a point; that deciding to skip breakfast, lunch or dinner is never a good idea. And that finding the excuse for not having the time is never worthwhile.

But while your problem may have been solved, ~~for~~ for many of the world's population the growing concern over hunger and nutrition ~~has~~ now ~~only~~ reached a catastrophic level.

And that's where the hunger site comes into action. The Hunger Site [www.thehungersite.com] ~~has~~ is a website committed to improving the lives of the poor, neglected & undernourished adults and children of the world. By simply visiting the site, you can ~~through~~ through online ~~sponsors~~ who advertise their companies through banner ads showcased on the site. By simply clicking on the ~~button~~ clickable button: 'Donate Free Food to The Hungry' you can make a difference in a child's or adult's life in another continent whether it may be Asia, Africa, South America or Central America. In addition, by buying tangible items ^(clothing) from the sponsors you will enable the ~~to~~ companies to donate a portion of their profits towards more food for the hungry.

In addition, if you look towards the top of the web site home page you will notice other clickable tab buttons that such to other altruistic sections of the site. Save the Rainforests, Find a Cure for Aids, Prevent Child Abuse, Find Land Mines and others try to collect money ~~the~~ from online sponsors ~~are~~ allowing the surfer to simply click on a ^{Donate} button at the ~~Exhibit~~ appropriate web page.

If you are ~~still~~ interested in donating free food and other free things via thehungersite website often but feel inconvenienced by typing it in all the time, you have ^{three} options to simplify and make your life simpler and not have to worry about something like this by:

#1 You can add the site to your favorites list by simply going to The Favorites menu moving down and clicking on Add to Favorites. (This is for Microsoft Internet Explorer version 4.0 and up.)

#2 - MIE will simply 'remember'

the site by having it listed within your history folder and thus typing it for you automatically when you begin to type it in yourself.

#3 You can make the site your homepage if you feel that having the webpage isn't too much for you.

You can do this by clicking on ^{Tools} ~~Internet~~ at the menu Select Screen at the top, then moving down to Internet Options and clicking there. Move to homepage and type in the url. That's all there is to it!

If you've read up to this point and are one of those people who can't seemingly seem to understand how making a link action

like that can help ^{you} yourself understand this, that doing good deeds can attract more positive things into your life. And if you're feeling haughty and think you can prove me wrong know this, that you'll attract that feminine aspect in your life you feel an attraction to and you'll del have something nice to say ~~to~~ at your next dinner party.

IQ predicts only 10% ^{20%} of life success. Therefore, the other 80-90% is predicted through emotional intelligence as well as other factors. (From the emotional intelligence video)

IQ has a very little impact ^{in life}. EI is not fixed at any point in time.

Every emotion is stored as a memory in the amygdala.

Amygdala Hijack - Very Strong Emotion
Very Sudden

This happens when the pathway from the amygdala to the neo-cortex scans the present situation and finds something that brings up a past memory or emotion (threatening).

Prefrontal lobes - brings info from all parts of the brain to make decisions.

Tyson's bite was due to a deficit in the prefrontal lobe area.

Self-Awareness

Gut-feeling or hunches

Marshmallow test - kids who resisted gratification were ^{more} stable under stress and better well-adapted.

Motivation - optimism in the face of a setback.

Empathy - what people are feeling non-verbally.

Social Skills - making people feel a little better or a little worse.

Emotions are contagious.

Stress causes 2x risk of major disease.

Stress is how you react.

Recovery from stress is vital.

When body is stressed stress hormones release into body = fight or flight response.

If this happens week after week day after day, month after month causes a disease with the body which is most susceptible.

Meditated 20 minutes every day concentrating on breath and letting go of thoughts.

Having a daily period of relaxation cuts down stress during the day and prevents disease in the long-run.

Some products and items which I wanted in the past:

- (1) Soundtrack to Myst
- (2) NFL Blitz 2000 - PC
- (3) Grim Fandango
- (4) Escape From Monkey Island.

And the reasons why I decided not to purchase them:

- (1) The Soundtrack to Myst - This soundtrack is not necessary to my musical enjoyment. There are many cds currently available which adequately compensate for my musical needs and make me feel that I have enjoyment. Moreover, based on their ^{its} release dates the title is old and locating it has shown some difficulty as well.
- (2) NFL Blitz 2000 PC - This title is fairly old considering the fact that the year is now 2001 and there are better games made by Midway.

(3) Grim Fandango - opportunity cost.

The opportunity cost of Grim Fandango is to give up reading through my library books and to spend money on a game that I may not necessarily enjoy.

(4) Escape from Monkey Island - at the moment where my biggest emphasis is upon saving money, buying this would clearly contradict what my current focus is about.

Killer Instinct, Myst, FF photos - The reason these items have been discarded is because of the fact that they represent an old way of life and focus. Killer Instinct, Myst and the FF photos provided no immediate long-term benefits.

Tonight, I figured out clearly of how I would like to make my living. First, I would like to create a working USANA business that generates $25,000 a year in the first 3-4 years. Next, by my 7th or 8th year I would like to generate $80,000 a year. With my income I will put 10% of it into safe investments and the majority into a mortgage. Furthermore, I desire or would love to study or becoming a webmaster or freelancing as a computer specialist in downtown Manhattan. This will continue to generate a larger portion of income continually.

2/13/01

Spoke with Jason, a MC student about the USANA business.

Stated that father works part-time in a similar multi-level corporation generating $45 million dollars a year. Father has a goal of making 1 contact per week.

Spoke with him about how to approach the business. First, pay rent at $200/month to ~~the~~ ~~providers~~ parents and explain that I will try the business for 1 year. If I am not happy or it does not work out I will go into another field.

The phone cards are tax deductible after I have used them. The ~~the~~ USANA products may or may not be tax deductible though.

My plan though is to do the following immediately in March (Spring Break). Though the products need to be ordered prior to Spring Break in order to arrive in enough time.

Then, I will approach Tom about the business and his uplines/downlines about strategy.

The first persons to use ~~use~~ the product recommended by me are ~~the~~ family and myself.

Next, the

The next people to be using the product will be my uncle and Aunt Clara & Tom.

Third, my grandmother Hicks, Eddie and Robert.

Fourth, Grandmother Furst.
Fifth, a potential list of contacts.

- John Castigini
- Gary Stoll
- Chat Room People

Fin I would like to make-up a list of ways to contact as many people as possible now.

- 1) Inform people on irc or AOL chat rooms.
- 2) ~~Let~~ Hundreds of people at Dr. DeMartini's seminars.
- 3) Ads in local newspapers that are free. Followed by advertisements in big corporate newspapers.

Possible Strategies for Getting People
To Use the Products and Being A Part of USANA:

- 1) make a list of the potential benefits.
- 2) make a list of the disadvantages.
- 3) Challenge their current mode of thinking.
- 4) Have the advantages outweigh the disadvantages then make sure that the perception is equilibrated by explaining that to reach the advantages goals must be setup.
- 5) Ask them why they believe the business is too good to be true and help them clarify why they think it is good.

- 6) Find ~~articles~~ journals articles, etcetera on scientific proof that USANA is a leader overall as opposed to other supplement businesses.
- 7) Keep up-to-date on the products. Try and familiarize oneself with a new product every Saturday and continue using different products as well as maintaining good health.
- 8) When describing it informally always write down good lines or fancier ways of saying things to gain more interest from ~~the~~ ^{that} a person.
- 9) Look into other ways of making part-time income such as web-building.

to

Finally, I would like to point out the fact that Jason mentioned to me that if I start right now, by the time I'm 25 I'll have made more than enough money... Write those phonecards off.

Also, he mentioned that maybe going into Communications is a better bet as opposed to finance because I will be talking to people for the time I work in the business.

2/14/01

Today, in Written Communication the teacher spoke about how she cannot picture some of us being in a suit and tie working on Wall Street.

Non profit, HBB or owning our own business are some of our options.

Also, spoke about how to behave ethically and honestly and omitting information is unethical. For instance, one must point out all the strengths of a product w/o putting down other products. In essence, your presentation is focusing on all of the good points of your product or advantages while not withholding any information from people thus behaving in a most ethical manner.

I thought today about two jobs that I could see myself doing one day. The first one is having a computer technical degree from Chubb's or DeVry. The second one is being a personal fitness trainer.

I believe that I can go to Chubb's or a computer technical school at 28 or 30 with money earned from a job in the corporate world.

With a job in the computing industry working from home or office, whatever may be, I would like to also be a part-time trainer on weekends or week days with my free time. It is only fair and what I would love to do.

3/8/01

First of all, I think when I tie ^{the} ~~my~~ idea of owning a business or corporation into my business courses here at Manhattan and how they are all applicable, it makes me very, very interested.

A second thing I would like to talk about is how I gain utility on my time spent while maximizing work time. For example, a typical Saturday morning could be spent the following way:

10:00 AM - Wake up and Breakfast.

11:00 AM - HW

1:00 PM - ~~Exercise~~ Television

1:30 PM - Yoga

2:00 PM - Tony Robbins

2:50 PM - Check Emails

3:30 PM - Work on Library

5:30 PM - Watch Spanish Television

3/9/01

Initially, when I first had the thought of not entering into a "real" job in the corporate world, yet instead being a fitness trainer, ~~seemed~~ or computer specialist seemed all the more sensuous.

It wasn't soon into the future that I realized that those around me began not only to question but to condemn my beliefs of doing my own thing.

But my reaction to this response was: "So what?"

What would you rather do take what the life that was given to you, dished out in sequence ^{starting} from childhood ^{plus} from all the authority figures or taking the risk of going out there and living the life that you truly want to live?

By my sophomore year of college at Manhattan College, I was already growing impatient with larger "ideals" in my mind and their constant looming in my mind only helped to perpetuate the fact that I was seeking ways to make it a reality. Two or two of my early ideas were actually would be considered 'quite-off' or ridiculous in nature.

The first desire of which was to become a black belt Martial Artist in any discipline so as long as it was the one I stuck with till the end. I was practicing two disciplines at once in the first few months of 2001. ~~The~~ My ideal was to own a dojo out in California with a home close to the beach while achieving financial independence and working on a part-time basis.

The second goal was to attend a computer technical school; Chubb's, Karen Gibbs, DeVry and to gain valuable hands-on computing experience to market myself in the real world.

I didn't mind the idea of working for someone when it was ~~for~~ something that I was enthusiastic about. But I could not tolerate the idea of having to work for someone in an office where I had to be under their nose and a time table which I had despised since starting my formidable years at college.

I would say that I had started my obsession with going to a technical school from watching a commercial about Adobe Photoshop and Flash. At Gibbs you would be trained to be an animator in Photoshop, develop web pages using HTML and configure all with the touch of a mouse button!

It seemed too good to be true for me and I thought to myself "Why didn't I do this before I came to college I thought. Or why didn't I just drop out and save my parents the $15,000 dollars they were paying each year ^{for me} to go to a school + private institution that I truly wasn't interested in? Why? Why? Why? The questions kept going through my mind endlessly to no avail.

But then I realized - recalled what I had learned from my mentor - John DeMartini. That everything serves and whenever you tie something into your highest goals and priorities, it becomes of utmost importance.

So that is exactly what I decided to do, figure out how going to college would benefit in the long run to put me ~~on~~ on my own feet so that I wouldn't be some guy with an embossed fancy piece of paper from those arduous 4 years.

I had to realize that by going to college and majoring in the school of business, that the most basic ^{and} rudimentary things that could allow me to think strategically and financially were now a part of me. If I wanted to open up a ^{daja} I would at least have to have some ideas of the economic principles of running a firm or of the accounting costs involved.

Then there was the psychological satisfaction that I would be getting knowing that I completed college and acquired a four-year degree.

And I never for a second doubted my ability to do it nor cared what those around me had to say.

This was ~~my~~ my life and I was in charge, period!

The one comforting undeniable ~~th~~ fact in my mind was that if everyone else who ever had similar thoughts failed to carry them through, I would at least be the only one to actually do it.

Update-

Visited a page that displayed info about Rodney Yee. Lives in Oakland, California and leads Yoga institute there for advanced training.

There are 17 instructors and even classes geared towards teaching for those whom would like to be instructors. And I figure that I would very much like to teach yoga as well as decide to live in Oakland for some years in order to teach there and help those around me.

Move.com is a wonderful website geared towards helping people achieve their moving intentions.

I figure that the move will be rather late, though in December 2003. If I do decide for a fact to stay for a semester longer (4½ yrs total) - I plan to take the Introduction to Sociology and History courses for that extra semester and work in the computer room MGL-110.

3/20/01

The microcomputer industry really got started in 1977. Prior to then, microcomputers were essentially a hobby item for engineers and programmers, who brought circuits, keyboards, monitors, and tape recorders and then 'assembled' their own basic computers. Steve Jobs, then working at Atari, and Steven Wozniak, then working at Hewlett Packard, were among these early computer enthusiasts. They spent their days working on large systems and their nights trying to put together small computers from mail-order parts.

3/24/01

Today, I received a call from Stephanie Goldman, inquiring whether or not I would like to help out with the MC Players in Tech, Stage or video. Albeit already knowing that I helped last semester with the play. After receiving that phone call, I checked my other messages and heard Mango stating that there will be a WEA club cleanup on Sunday to clean the neighborhood. Being involved with WEA and the play is a wonderful experience to be able to work towards a common goal with a group of people is all the more enticing. So far, this semester I have been involved with the following:

WEA
Karate Club
Computer Help Job
CIS Club
MC Players
The Quadrangle

~~I was~~

As an aside, I was thinking of one day committing myself to meeting (in person) Rodney Yee and becoming a Yoga Instructor myself in the Yoga Institute being able to dedicate my life to helping others bring health and wellness into their life along with achieving financial independence with the Usana business.

I intend to also write to Rodney Yee after I buy his two other videos on ebay and tell the impact that he has had on my life.

Today, I attended a Karate tournament held in Drady. I realize that if I become a black belt one day that I can use the competitions to my humble advantages. For example, if I am a teacher and people respect me very much then I will be able to recommend to them the USANA essentials and other products. In addition, I would like to one day travel the world competing in competitions internationally and be involved with the Yoga community.

"The reconditioning process will work similarly in the fashion of A to B to C. When we start having sexually inappropriate thoughts, and for newly recovering sex addicts this will be frequently, we can put a rubber band on the inside of our wrist. Every time we have an inappropriate thought we snap the rubber band on the inside of our wrist. When we snap the rubber band, "P" will happen which stands for pain. It will take about 30 days for this process to take the reconditioning effect. Some say a positive thought, after they snap the rubber band. Neurologically,

When you get an inappropriate thought, your body is going to start associating it with pain. Most clients report to me that within a month of this reconditioning behavior, 80 percent of their sexual inappropriate thought life disappears. At this point most are ecstatic!

I saw ~~photos~~ pictures of the Borneo tragedy - slaughtering of Madurese immigrants by Dayak majority in Indonesia. The pictures are quite graphic in nature and have sometimes children, genocide, beheadings and hordes of murder and death lingering about. A search revealed that, violence and murders begin with clashes springing up in 1968 when the Madurese began to come into the mainland island. The term Madras revealed a British East India colony at turn of the century. There is one picture in particular which stands out amongst the rest. And although it is not in any way meant to be ~~sensually~~ appealing, the setting itself seems to lend an almost absurd context in which bodies were littered everywhere. In addition, there are some more rather gruesome pictures and a press release stated the Eating Babies picture indeed did come ~~try~~ to go on display in Shanghai, China, at a local art exhibit museum.

Also, there was a story stating a ~~young~~ boy slashed a policeman with a sickle for lecturing him about trespassing.

At other sites like (coolvideoclips.com) the site has been updated with a Donkey trying to hump a man, a cat going crazy and a woman holding two monster dicks... Somewhat pornographic in nature, hehehe...

At the site (www.morbidreign.com) I saw a gruesome video clip of a suicide on live TV by a politician who went by the name Bud Dwyer. Apparently, the sexual allegations against his family were too much to bear and the accusations against him were to unbearable for him. In front of the media he pulled out a ^{large} revolver from a manila envelope and shot himself in the mouth. The time frame seemed like the early 70's or 60's.

On a happier note I want to end this entry with some thoughts that keep popping in. It is in regards to some great games that came out in 1993. They are

- 1) Mortal Kombat
- 2) Myst
- 3) Doom

Today, I spoke with Vlad about the possibility and notion of going to a technical college to learn ^{about} computers after I graduate from Manhattan.

The schools: Chubb, Karen Gibbs, TCI are all of course geared towards teaching people how to use software such as Photoshop, Flash, Web Page Design, Etcetera, etcetera, etcetera.

He stated his opinion in that he thought it would be best to find a company that would pay for the education if it related to what I am doing there.

I realized the value of the cd-rw that I got for only $1. I bought it from Vlad and it comes with a sleek designed case.

The cd has some interesting contents on it:

- (1) Scary Movie
- (2) You're Invited But Your Friend Can't Come.
- (3) Myst trailers
- (4) Beavis and Butthead
- (5) Cool video clips
- (6) MP3s
- (7) text to voice.

I have decided that I will probably NOT go ahead and buy MFT 3: Exit. My In my recent acquiring philosophy of keeping my life simple, it would be best not to buy it and end up with accumulation of unneeded items in the near future.

Furthermore, with decreased amount of personal time that I have, I will not have the resources nor time necessary to devote my concentration to the game fully. I still have not completed my major goal of reading all the books in my bookshelf.

I would also like to state that there are some good trailers that I put on the rewritable cd.

Unfortunately, Today I at 12:10pm Ed knocked on my door and told me of a mandatory meeting in Jasper Lounge at 12:30

When I got there I saw the entire building and staff including: Elaine T. White, Br. Dennis, Dr. Geary and others.

As I was told: unfortunately, last night one of ~~you~~ ~~cd~~ the Jasper residents went out to the bar Southbend with friends and came home ~~intoxicated~~ intoxicated throwing up.

EMS, emergency personnel and the ambulances arrived but unfortunately she stopped breathing this morning. She was 19. She died of BAC poisoning.

Today, I came up with three items in my mind which I believe would be nice to own:

- ★ (1) Myst for PC - Win 3.1 / 95
- ★ (2) Myst III: Exile
- ★ (3) PC Hardware & Software Bible

★ Perhaps sometime in Fall 2001 ^{or Christmas.} goals

And then there are my dreams:

- (1) Computer-related job
- (2) Living in California
- (3) Doing something just socially outrageous like being a mailman or Yoga instructor in California hopefully for a few years.

★ Need to see how much progress has been made in regards to the bookshelf and where I am at.

Forget about living frugally, I'm going all out. I want to buy Myst III: Exile, the Tony Robbins audio cd collection off of Ebay, the original Myst on Ebay and auto-ship on the USANA business.

I've also realized that I can definitely listen to all of the audiotapes that I have with ease if I stick to a strict regimen of doing it everyday during the summer while working with Eddie.

4/3/01

I've decided to say the hell with buying Myst or the Tony Robbins cds. I have enough things in ~~my~~ my room and feel that both items are limiting.

I would rather concentrate my newfound interests of studying maps and getting around Los Angeles and watching Spanish television to aid in my bilingual skills.

The Myst game is rather old at this point in time and has a rather low utility rating.

The Tony Robbins cds are expensive and ~~so~~ recorded previously. The website however, has free material and is updated frequently.

Spoke with Andrew and Nick about going out to Los Angeles to go and see John.

Told them my idea of wanting to go to study there for a semester while earning credit and coming back to graduate at Manhattan.

In order to convince my mother to let me do this, I need to take (obtain) all of the necessary literature and/or paperwork. I can do this by going to UCLA's ^{site} or other similar LA college's websites.

I don't know if I would dorm on campus or live with John but I'll have to find out.

Also, I plan to go to Los Angeles to visit John every spring break if I am able to. I will start this weekend

by looking up the necessary information and getting the coursebook in May during my visit.

In addition, I think that it would be ultra-cool to take a bus down to Florida to see Grandma and Grandpa during the summer or early next semester. If during the semester, I will see if it is possible to get on it Friday afternoon and arrive by Saturday morning.

From the Book How to Raise Your Self-Esteem by Nathaniel Branden.

I Like Myself Most When I:

- Do my best in college
- Help Mom out
- Avoid quarreling with my brother
- Plan out my week
- Anticipate change
- Work hard at something
- Exercise frequently
- Act grateful
- Pray
- Be Silent
- Meditate
- Stick to a goal and accomplish it.
- Act dignified.

I Like Myself Least When I:

- Act stupid
- Make foolish decisions
- Act lazy
- Complain
- Overlook the small things
- Don't exercise enough
- Lust
- Spend too lavishly
- Walk around with a chip on my shoulder.
- Don't practice my katas.

This weekend came home Friday and saw Joe. He came up from Florida sometime during the week. When we arrived home, I rented Falling Down and watched it again. Slept downstairs in the basement on the couch. Saturday wake up walked around the neighborhood, Cunningham, Pole-Vision, Fruit Store with Joe and talked about life. At night, showed Joe some funny video clips on my CD-RW.

Forgot to mention saw BeDazzled and saw a piece on Fox News about ~~the~~ landfill in NY. Footage showed ~~a very good~~ a controlled workflow and routineness I was not aware of. Interviewed a man who has worked on the job for 28 years.

Still haven't gotten around to listening to the cd and watching Fray Movie on the rewritable yet. Will do so soon in the near future.

Joe said he saw the film last summer and liked it but thought D-Fens used his anger against the world as too much of an excuse, to act destructively in his own eyes.

Joe also brought up the hat from ~~Mexico~~ Florida that belonged to Grandpa. The hat was made in Mexico (written on the inside), made of straw and is large enough to drape over the neck and shoulders.

On Easter Sunday, showed Tommy some crazy clips on the rewritable cd, let him borrow Dennis Whitley while he brought over the maps of Los Angeles.

Also, took a walk around the neighborhood and looked at the architecture of certain homes with Eddie and Tom.

Played baseball on Dumfries with Ed and Tom. Being 20 years of age, I still do not feel ashamed to play with them nor does Ed.

I visited Student Advantage.com where some guy wrote reviews for old Sega cd games. Some of them were: Night Trap, Prize Fighter, Sewer Shark, Sonic cd and more. I found out that David Underwood is GHOST and Robert Constanza is Commissioner Stencher on the IMDB. No luck on contacting Sega through email or phone they didn't know of any old commercials.

It's been about 6 days since McVeigh was executed. I watched people interviewed saying on MSNBC ^{some} saying they they were happy he was killed. Others felt using the death penalty would never bring their loved ones back. But all in all, this attack on April 19, 1995 was socially useless & he was ^{oblit-}erated.
